

IFP Program Landing/Q4 Homepage

The In Focus Project landing's purpose is to inform ATC 21+ (user) of the In Focus Project and allow them access to the different parts of the program.

For IFP'15 this landing page will replace the Camel.com homepage and be the first page viewed after a successful login that does not carry a page-specific deep link.

User Stories

As the RJR Brand, I want to encourage ATCs to return daily so they become further engaged in the program, keeping Camel top of mind.

As an ATC 21+ (user), I want to participate in a daily win so I can win money money money.

- 1 Hero promotional space will be utilized to promote the In Focus Project Daily Instant Win as the primary point of focus for the user.
- 2 CTA will take users to the instant win landing page.

As the RJR brand, I want to encourage ATCs to participate in the grand prize contest so that they share in the experience and associate Camel with culturally relevant content.

As an ATC 21+ (user), I want to learn about the In Focus Project contest so I can upload a photo and participate.

- 3 Hero promotional space will be utilized to promote the In Focus Project contest as the secondary point of focus for the user. The image and description text will change to reflect the style/artist of the weekly challenge.
- 4 CTA will take users to the contest landing page.

As an ATC 21+ (user), I want to learn about the limited-edition packs so that I can understand the why and how of the images on the packs I keep seeing in my local store.

- 6 Pack promotion section will highlight the available LE packs, with images and copy that gives an overview of the packs. Depending on the distribution schedule, this content could be adjusted to reflect packs coming to market.
- CTA will take users to the Packs/Artist landing page.
